PRESIDENT'S GREETING

Greetings Philadelphia Orthopedic Society Members,

I am thrilled to announce that Dr. Scott Levin, MD, FACS will be our esteemed guest lecturer this month. Dr. Levin has been a pioneer in the field of orthoplastic extremity reconstruction for over 30 years. His passion for restoring form and function to severely damaged limbs is unmatched.

Dr. Levin has said his greatest satisfaction as a surgeon comes from “taking that devastated, dysfunctional, demoralized extremity and restoring it to something beautiful and functional.” He has given hope to countless patients who were told nothing could be done to save their mangled arms and legs.

We also take this opportunity to honor the Dr. John L. Esterhai, former Chief of Orthopaedic Surgery at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Esterhai devoted 40 years of service to Penn Medicine and trained hundreds of orthopedic surgeons. He was instrumental in establishing Penn’s orthopedic trauma program into one of the nation’s best. Dr. Esterhai’s legacy of clinical excellence, compassionate care, and mentorship continues to shape the field of orthopedics in Philadelphia and beyond.

Please join us in celebrating these two esteemed physicians who have advanced the specialty of orthoplastic reconstruction and left an indelible impact on our community. Dr. Levin’s presentation promises to be highly informative and inspiring. We look forward to welcoming him and benefiting from his insights.

Also, I will give an update of the standings of which residency is in the lead for best attendance. Remember, the winning residency gets a sponsored night out on the board!

Please RSVP to this event to ensure we have an accurate headcount for catering and seating arrangements. You can RSVP by clicking <http://www.phillyortho.org/upcoming-events.html> or by emailing admin@phillyortho.org

Thank you for your continued support of the Philadelphia Orthopedic Society, and we hope to see you at Rodeph Shalom Synagogue.

Sincerely,

Joseph

PROGRAM CHAIR'S REPORT

It is my pleasure to announce the speaker for our November meeting of the Philadelphia Orthopaedic Society, L. Scott Levin, M.D. Dr. Levin is the Paul B. Magnuson Professor of Bone and Joint Surgery and the Chair of the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery at the University of Pennsylvania. He also serves as the Vice President and Associate Dean for Resource Development at Penn Medicine. Dr. Levin is Board-certified in both Orthopaedic Surgery and Plastic Surgery. His expertise focuses on surgery of the hand and upper extremity, reconstructive microsurgical techniques for extremity reconstruction, and limb salvage. In 2022 he was awarded the Kappa Delta Elizabeth Winston Lanier Award from the AAOS for his research in extremity soft tissue reconstruction and vascularized composite allotransplantation. On Monday, November 13, he'll speak to us about his experience over the last 3 decades building the Vascularized Composite Allotransplantation Program at Penn and the Pediatric Hand Transplantation Program at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. I look forward to seeing you at his talk, titled "Orthoplastic Extremity Reconstruction—33 Years of Progress."
