PRESIDENT'S GREETING

We are thrilled to announce our upcoming monthly meeting, featuring the very highly anticipated Snyder-Gregg Resident Bowl.

The Snyder-Gregg Resident Bowl is a beloved tradition of the Philadelphia Orthopaedic Society. It is named after two esteemed physicians, Drs. John R. Gregg and Barry J. Snyder.

During the Resident Bowl, a resident representing each of the six area orthopaedic programs will compete in a Jeopardy-style trivia contest. From anatomy and surgical techniques to research and history, participants will put their expertise to the test in a friendly, competitive environment. This year's Bowl promises to be an exciting and memorable event!

- The Snyder-Gregg Resident Bowl – Cheer on the residents as they compete
- Networking and Collaboration – Enjoy the collegiality with fellow members of the Society
- Celebrate Orthopaedic Excellence – Join us in recognizing the winner of the Slanga Resident Research Award.

Please RSVP by clicking the link provided to secure your spot at this exciting gathering.

Joe Rosenblatt, D.O.
President

PROGRAM CHAIR'S REPORT

Another Philadelphia Orthopaedic Society Resident Bowl is upon us!

Last year kicked off a new tradition, as we honored our long-standing member and board contributor, Dr. Barry Snyder, by adding his name to the title of the event. The Snyder-Gregg Resident Bowl took on its new name to represent the friendship that Drs. Gregg and Snyder shared for decades and the contributions they've made to the city's orthopaedic community. The University of Pennsylvania took home the victory in 2023, as we trialed a new Jeopardy-based theme.

This year will surely be a fun and competitive evening, as chiefs from each residency program battle for the Bowl.

I look forward to seeing you there!
